

Pottery: Hand building and throwing mixe

Whether you would like to learn new creative skills or to investigate the possibility of a new craft-based career, MAE Community Learning courses can provide you with a stepping stone to progress.

This course is a mixed ability course for complete beginners to those experienced in working with clay.

Beginners will learn a variety of hand-building techniques advancing to throwing pots on a wheel.

Experienced learners will be supported to design and devise their own creative pathways. They will be encouraged to expand personal boundaries through exploring new concepts and extending/refining techniques and processes.

Start Date:	16 September 2024
Start Time:	09:30
Lessons:	10
Weeks:	10
Hours:	30.00

The course aims to develop confidence and creativity through working on a broad variety of ceramics skills and techniques, incorporating both Fine Art approaches and the making and decoration of pots.

Learners can expect, during this course, to improve and further their skills. Tutor guidance will support the development personal projects whilst working with clay and types of decoration.

Venue

What will I learn on this course?

Learners will:

1. Prepare at least one type of clay.
2. Create work using at least 2 different techniques: hand-building techniques: (e.g. modelling, pinching, coiling, slab building) and throwing on a potter's wheel.
3. Plan at least one project using a sketchbook to develop individual creative ideas.

Learners will work with the tutor on setting relevant, contextualised learning aims to extend their skills and knowledge. Relevant, individual goals will be worked towards over the duration of the course.

Learners will also be expected to observe appropriate health & safety requirements in the pottery studio as set out in the MAE ground rules /learner contract

Is this course suitable for me?

Suitable for all, beginners to those with hand building experience.

Is there anything I need to know about the course?

You will need to prepare the following tools and equipment (please do not buy until you know that the course will run). Please bring to all sessions:

- An apron/protective clothing and sturdy footwear (no open toed shoes in the pottery) is essential for Health and Safety reasons. It is recommended that you do not wear anything you value highly. You may wish to bring household gloves to use when glazing.
- A pen / pencil - a sketchbook will be provided.
- Learners with previous experience should bring in an example of their own work / or photo of work to help in the initial assessment process.

Tools:

- A basic pottery tool kit (can be purchased online fairly cheaply)
- A steel kidney scraper (an old store card cut to shape can make an effective kidney scraper)
- A small sponge

Tools and equipment can not be left in the classroom, please take all personal items home.

The nearest supplier for specialist tools is The Clay Cellar at Brenchley,
<https://www.claycellar.co.uk/tools>
(Please check website for opening times and delivery details.)

Some of the guided learning hours will be used to set the group and individual learning targets for the course. Learners will then have time to revisit these targets with the tutor to assess progress.

Will there be additional costs?

An amount of clay is included within the course fees. Learners will weigh and record weight / price with the aid of the tutor before firing. Once the set amount has been reached, learners will need to weigh, record, pay and show proof of payment before items are fired.

The cost of clay includes:

Clay ordering, processing, and delivery.

Cost of glazes and finishing materials.

Cost of firing (electricity and upkeep of kilns)

Technician costs

As such, the cost per Kg. is greater than sold at wholesale price.
