What will I learn on this course?

The course aims that you will be able to:

1. Build on the skills gained in level 2
2. Gain an understanding of the theories of counselling and mental health
3. Understand the importance of relationship in counselling
4. Understand the importance of supervision and how to use it
5. Use self awareness, reflection and feedback throughout the process

Learners must have completed the Level 2 counselling skills course or its equivalent. There will be an interview, and assessment date to be attended. You need literacy skills (be able to follow written and verbal instructions, use alphabetical order, write coherent and structured essays and assignments) and numeracy skills (criteria is numerical based, journals and pages in each section numbered sequentially) IT Skills (all journals and assignments to be computer generated and presentations can be done on power point). You also need to be emotionally stable. Counselling courses include elements of self awareness, personal growth and development, this will involve self reflection and sharing of possibly uncomfortable situations undertaken within the confines of the classroom with boundaries and rules set by learners. You will also be expected to give feedback to peers both on written work and practical skills. Due to the nature of the course all students are required to sign a confidentiality agreement at induction.

Although personal counselling is not a requirement at this level it is highly recommended and maybe specifically suggested to you if the tutor thinks it will enhance your support and development. Group and triad sessions are not a replacement for this.

Is this course suitable for me?

This course is suitable for you if you have completed the Level 2 Counselling Certificate.

Is there anything I need to know about this course?

A portfolio of work will be built up. Learners have to submit a weekly journal 750 – 1000 words, a written assignment, A presentation, two observed counselling skills practice sessions (one via transcribed recording), one case study, set goals and review these and progress in your ILP.

Learners will be expected to attend all sessions and be prepared to carry out homework as requested by the tutor, read the course text book and research topics and concepts explored on the course
You are undertaking a course that leads , to a nationally regulated qualification on the Qualification and Credit Framework (QCF) awarded by the Counselling and Psychotherapy Central Awarding Body (CPCAB) - the only Ofqual approved awarding body to specialise in the field of counselling and supervision (cpcab.co.uk) have an excellent website with any further information you may want.

Will there be any additional costs?
